

BPM Joins the Online Lending Policy Institute

08.23.17

The Online Lending Policy Institute (“OLPI”) is a nonpartisan research and educational institute committed to the strong marriage between technology and finance for a better, more transparent, secure lending experience. Founded by a unique and important collaboration between academic and business professionals (including Boston University, Cross River Bank, and RockLoans Marketplace), it will reach its goals through its three pillars: Research; Educate; Innovate.

Daniel Figueredo, partner in BPM’s Financial Services Industry Group and leader of its FinTech Practice, serves on the Board of Governors as Treasurer.

To learn more about OPLI, click here.